Education

Department of Informatics and Telecommunications University of Peloponnese
Tripoli, Greece

📅 Sep 2009 - Jul 2023

Bsc In Science and Technology of Telecommunications

Experience

Studying web development independently through platforms like Udemy and freeCodeCamp. Completing hands-on projects to deepen my understanding of both frontend and backend technologies.

📅 Jan 2025 - Today

I owned and managed my own business in the food service industry. This role involved overseeing daily operations, managing customer service, coordinating tasks, and handling financial and administrative responsibilities. Through this experience, I developed strong communication skills, effective time management, and organizational abilities, ensuring smooth business functioning and growth. Additionally, I maintained an active interest in technology, applying digital tools to optimize business processes and improve efficiency.
